

Gly 130(A)

A red wavy line representing a protein backbone, with several short red lines extending from it, suggesting a specific conformation or interaction.